

September 29, 2008
ALMEDIO INC.

ALMEDIO has acquired the attestation on DVD-Video and ROM Disc Class-A Verification Laboratory.

The DVD Forum has approved ALMEDIO INC. (Higashimurayama-shi, Tokyo, Japan. Yoshio Inuma, president) as a Class-A Verification Laboratory for DVD-Video and ROM Disc on September 17, 2008.

ALMEDIO has been conducting three kinds of business activities, such as Test Media business supplying the test discs as the criteria and for adjustment to Audio, Video and Computer peripheral devices manufacturers, Creative Media business making custom-made music CDs, CD-ROMs, and DVD-Videos and Testing business performing verification and inspection of DVD discs as entrusted business.

In December 2000 we acquired the attestation of DVD-Video & ROM Disc Class-B verification laboratory. It is promoted to higher Verification Laboratories this time. We will expend our effort in supporting DVD market and the information appliance using optical discs for further progression.

Mission outline of Class-A verification Laboratories

- Execute comprehensive DVD verification.
- Execute services requested by the DVD Forum (e.g. Market inspection)
- Contribute to further development of Test Specifications, testing criteria, specification interpretation, methods and procedures.
- Contribute to the development of test tools.
- Provide technical service to the related DVD community.

- DVD Forum -

The DVD Forum is an international association consists of more than 160 companies all over the world. Hardware, software and media manufacturer, content providers and other users of DVD Discs are included in membership. The DVD forum purpose is to develop specifications, improve and innovate about the DVD Format by exchanging information.